

Be it so known that the bearers of this charter, having ruled the newly fledged nation of Oathaven for over a full year in good faith, are hereby recognized by their friend and ally to the north, the kingdom of Brebov and the town of Restov.

In accordance with providing a stable nation to the south of Restov, let it be known that the quelling of the troll threat will result in the bestowal of funds, support, and advice to this fledgling nation as a continuing token of Restov and Brebov's goodwill, such that future relations between nations might continue to be mutually beneficial.

So witnessed on this 31st day of Erastus 4712 by the watchful eye of the Lordship of Restov and with the authority granted by Lord Moleski Surtoba, current Regent of the Dragonscale Throne.
